Apple Crisps

Squeeze the juice of ½ a lemon into a bowl and dilute with a little water. Using a mandolin, slice apples thinly to a thickness of about ¼-inch. Dip the slices into diluted lemon juice as soon as you cut them to stop discoloration. Mix ½ cup water and ½ cup sugar in a pan. Place the slices into the syrup and boil. Remove the fruit, place on parchment and dry in the oven at 200°F for 4 hours, turning once half way through.
